Perils of Using Manual Expense Solution

For quite some time, manual expense management had become a pain point for Adesto. There are several issues with expense reports such as submitting non-compliant expense claims, missing receipts, and duplicate expenses, and a lot of time was wasted in the auditors' follow-up process with the employees filing the reports. The manual management process was unable to support the rapid business expansion, as it was too inefficient for auditors to process in the allotted time.

So, the finance team at Adesto started to look out for an efficient automated management system to match the scaling ambitions of organizations.

About Adesto

Adesto is a leading provider of innovative, application-specific semiconductors and embedded systems that comprise the essential building blocks of Internet of Things (IoT) edge devices operating on networks worldwide.

Through expert design, unparalleled systems expertise, and proprietary intellectual property (IP), Adesto enables its customers to differentiate their systems where it matters most for IoT: better efficiency, greater reliability and security, integrated intelligence and lower cost.

Automated Expense Management Taking Over

Adesto first implemented Concur on trial, and later decided to look for alternative due to high implementation costs and complex operations.

SutiExpense was able to meet the expectations of the company. The team faced no such challenges to implement the solution and the entire adoption and installation process took less than a month.

The Notable Changes after Implementing SutiExpense

Managing payments and expense reports became very easy. Receipts can be scanned and uploaded in the expense report automatically using OCR (optical character recognition) instead of employees manually entering expense details.

Employees saved many work time hours by using smart features such as pre-trip approval requests, intelligent voice capture, automated credit card digital feed to submit, and process expense reports. The best of all is that the solution can be seamlessly integrated with a corporate-wide travel booking solution.

Adesto's Feedback on SutiExpense

With SutiExpense, tracking expenses has become easy and the finance team is able to access the proper expense report information and manage the reimbursement process efficiently. The processing time has reduced from three days to three hours.
